

Adjunct Faculty College of Agriculture, Health and Natural Resources Storrs Campus

The Agriculture and Natural Resources (AGNR) program seeks an academically and professionally qualified instructor to teach a leadership development course related to extension and outreach, titled Leadership Development in Extension Education (AGNR 4500/5500; 3 credits) for the Spring 2024 semester. This course introduces students to Extension and other forms of public engagement. Extension mission, history, organization, programming, program development, extension teaching and delivery methods, and the involvement and use of volunteers will be covered. Students will learn about and practice team-based collaborations, informal teaching/learning methods as well as social processes and influences, organizational behavior and relationships, program evaluation and assessment, communications, ethics, and decision-making. The course will be taught on the Storrs campus and the instructor will be responsible for planning and implementing instructional activities which complement guest speaker presentations, facilitating and guiding group presentations, assessment of student learning, and engaging students. The department (AGNR) can support the instructor as needed in identifying individuals to provide guest lectures.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: MS, or equivalence; previous experience teaching at the college Level

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS: Previous teaching experience of relevant courses; experience working with Extension

STIPEND FOR THE COURSE: $5,919

TO APPLY: Interested applicants should send a cover letter resume or curriculum vitae, statement of teaching interests, and contact information for three references to Kyle Garneau (kyle.garneau@uconn.edu). Review of applications will begin immediately. For questions about the position, please contact Kristen Govoni at 860-429-2919.

Employment of the successful candidate is contingent upon the successful completion of a pre-employment criminal background check. All employees are subject to adherence to the State Code of Ethics which may be found at <http://www.ct.gov/ethics/site/default.asp>.

All members of the University of Connecticut are expected to exhibit appreciation of, and contribute to, an inclusive, respectful, and diverse environment for the University community. The University of Connecticut aspires to create a community built on collaboration and belonging and has actively sought to create an inclusive culture within the workforce. The success of the University is dependent on the willingness of our diverse employee and student populations to share their rich perspectives and backgrounds in a respectful manner. This makes it essential for each member of our community to feel secure and welcomed and to thoroughly understand and believe that their ideas are respected by all. We strongly respect each individual employee's unique experiences and perspectives and encourage all members of the community to do the same. All applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, national origin, genetics, disability, age, or veteran status. The University of Connecticut is an AA/EEO Employer. (HR23-45)